Greetings,

Welcome to the University of Delaware Library! This Library publication is intended to acquaint the University Community with Library collections, services, electronic databases and electronic journals, the Institutional Repository, and other resources. The University of Delaware Library is comprised of the Morris Library, four branch libraries, and the Library Annex.

This is an exciting and challenging time for libraries. Traditional information resources of books, journals, microforms, and other materials are greatly enhanced by electronic access and the use of the Internet as a spectacular tool for scholarly research. Electronic library resources such as DELCAT, licensed databases, full-text electronic journals, image collections, Library digital collections, the Institutional Repository, the Library web, and the provision of gateway capability to the vast and rich world of information on the Internet, provide more information to the University Community than ever before. In addition to these electronic library resources, the Library provides a wide variety of in-person and online services. An exciting new Student Multimedia Design Center on the Lower Level of the Morris Library is open with seventy workstations, six studios and two multimedia classrooms.

Library staff look forward to working with you. Please feel comfortable in asking for staff assistance at the Reference Desk, at the Information Desk, and at any service desk in the Morris Library or in the branch libraries. Also use the online reference service AskRef for e-mail reference or AskRef*Live*! for live online reference service. For Library hours, please call 302-831-BOOK.

May your library experience be abundant with enrichment and scholarly achievement!

Susan Brynteson
The May Morris Director of Libraries

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY UNIVERSITY
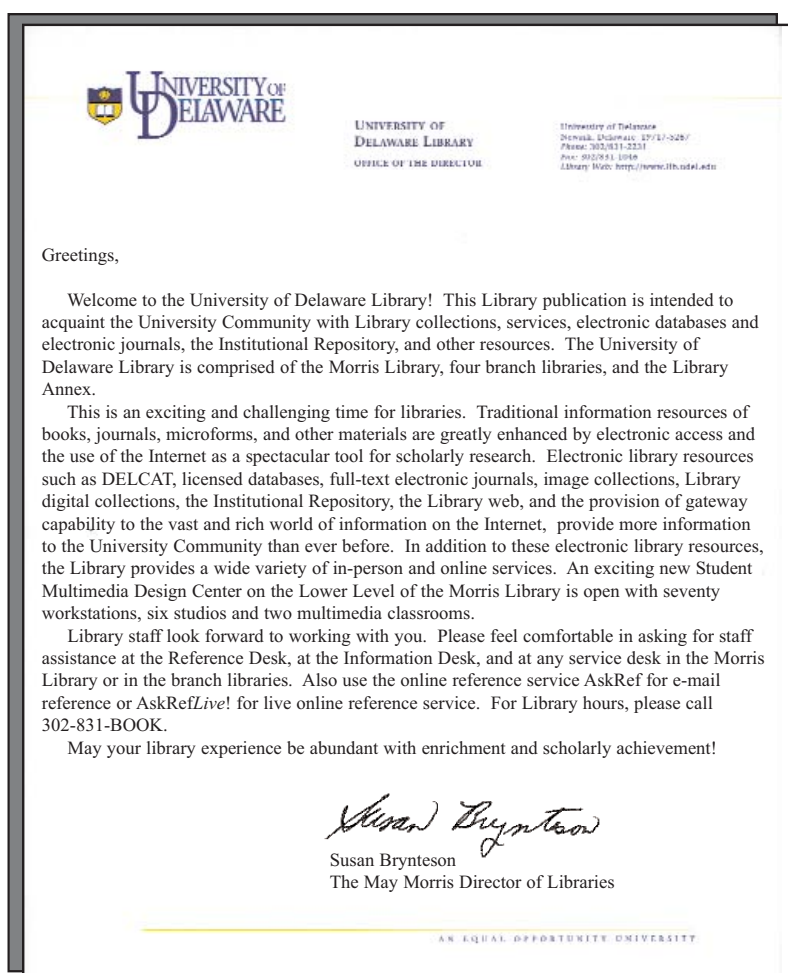

The Student Multimedia Design Center is open on the lower level of Morris Library for creating multimedia projects and working on multimedia presentations. Library staff are always available to assist users. The Student Multimedia Design Center is a place to:
- Borrow video camera kits, light kits, audio kits, hard drives, and more
- Capture and edit video using video editing software
- Rehearse presentations using a 47" LCD display monitor with SMART board capabilities
- Create a custom soundtrack for video projects
- Package video projects for delivery on DVD, the web, or iPod

The 70 multimedia workstations, 6 studios and 2 classrooms of the Student Multimedia Design Center provide University of Delaware students, faculty, and staff access to and assistance with multimedia computer software and hardware. Six studios allow students to record, rehearse, and review small group work, perform presentations to small groups with interactive annotations, edit and capture video, transfer media and record sound. Two classrooms are available for faculty to reserve for a hands-on class session. Clusters of computers are arranged in a flexible environment to allow for collaboration and group work. A wide range of copying and scanning equipment is also available. The Student Multimedia Design Center was created to support the growing number of student projects and assignments that contain a multimedia component.

For information about the Center, including dates of upcoming orientations, students may come to the lower level of Morris Library to the Student Multimedia Design Center service desk, call 302-831-8832, or consult the Student Multimedia Design Center website: www.udel.edu/smdc. Services at the service desk also include assistance with Microforms, CD-ROMs, Maps, copy services, and the Digital Mapping Station (GIS).

For information about using multimedia in courses, faculty may contact the PRESENT (Practical Resources for Educators Seeking Effective New Technologies) in Smith Hall, call 302-831-0640 or check the Web at [www.udel.edu/present].

The Student Multimedia Design Center is a collaborative service of the University of Delaware Library and IT/User Services.

Questions regarding DELCAT may be sent via e-mail to the Library at [askref@poole.lib.udel.edu] or go to Ask a Librarian at [www2.lib.udel.edu/ref/askalib].

Image Databases:
ARTstor and AccuNet/AP

The Library subscribes to digital image databases, including ARTstor and AccuNet/AP Multimedia Archive.

University of Delaware Library users can incorporate photos or graphics into their course, project, or web site using resources provided by the Library.

ARTstor:
500,000 Digital Images

The ARTstor Digital Library is comprised of digital images of art objects including architecture, painting, photography, sculpture, prints, decorative arts and design, archaeological and anthropological objects, and other materials that are related to visual and material culture. Images are from all time periods -- pre-history to 21st century, all cultures, and all geographic areas.

The ARTstor image collection contains approximately 500,000 digital images which support teaching and research primarily across the humanities, but also in areas such as civil engineering and history of science and technology. The size and breadth of this collection makes it a valuable instructional resource for all disciplines. ARTstor is accessible at [www.artstor.org].

AccuNet/AP Multimedia Archive:
One Million Associated Press Digital Photos

The AccuNet/AP Multimedia Archive database provides access to more than 1,000,000 photos and graphics from the AP wire service from the 1860s until today on all subjects. It is updated daily with 800 photos per day. AccuNet/AP Multimedia Archive is accessible at [accuweather.ap.org/cgi-bin/aplaunch.pl].

Digital images from these two resources can be downloaded and used for classroom presentations, term papers, dissertations, syllabi and theses, research projects, and presentations at conferences.

Many other free and fee-based digital image repositories can be found from the Library's Digital Image Collections web page at [www2.lib.udel.edu/eresources/digitalimages].

Where to Find Articles Online

Databases provided by the Library allow simultaneous searching of thousands of journals to find articles. Full-text databases are those with entire articles online. Some full-text databases, such as JSTOR, go back 100 years or more. A list of full-text databases can be found at [www2.lib.udel.edu/eresources/fulltext].

- Go to the Library home page and click on Databases to find more than 230 databases, or go directly to [www.lib.udel.edu/db] for the complete list of databases.

- To find full-text databases and electronic journals which provide articles from more than 40,000 journals and newspapers, go to [www2.lib.udel.edu/eresources/fulltext].

Electronic Journals & Electronic Newspapers

Electronic journals and electronic newspapers provided by the Library allow searching or reading articles online.

- To find electronic journals, go to the Library home page and click on Electronic Journals, or go directly to [www.lib.udel.edu/db/ejrnls.html].

- To find electronic newspapers, go to the Library home page and click on Resources, then Electronic Newspapers, or go directly to [www2.lib.udel.edu/subj/newspapers/db.htm].

How to Insert Article URL Links:

Faculty can place URL links to articles from databases and electronic journals on MyCourses or course syllabi to create online reading lists. More information about creating links to articles is at [www2.lib.udel.edu/usered/purls/index.htm].

scholar.google.com

Google™ Scholar enables users to search for scholarly literature, including peer-reviewed papers, theses, books, preprints, abstracts, and technical reports covering a number of broad areas of scholarly inquiry.

Currently the University of Delaware Library, through the Databases and Electronic Journals web pages, provides access to many more online full-text articles than are included in Google™ Scholar.

Google™ Scholar is being recognized by libraries and researchers across the country as an additional means of facilitating the research process. It is important to recognize that UD students, faculty, and staff are able to immediately view many entire articles found in Google™ Scholar because the UD Library subscribes to, pays for, and licenses access to thousands of electronic journals that are included in Google™ Scholar. Users who are not accessing the Internet through the UD network may see only a request to purchase that article and not the entire article.

RefWorks — Organize References Online!
www.refworks.com/Refworks

The Library has made things easier! A new web-based system called RefWorks is now provided by the Library for University students, faculty, and staff. The RefWorks system provides a much easier way to organize references for research projects, articles, books, theses, and dissertations and can be accessed from any computer connected to the campus network.

The University of Delaware Library subscribes to RefWorks for all UD users and hosts workshops throughout the year introducing the features of RefWorks, which include setting up a RefWorks account, exporting citations from research databases, and importing the citations to a personal RefWorks account. The RefWorks "Write-N-Cite" feature makes it easy to insert properly formatted notes and citations into an MS Word document. RefWorks may be accessed at [www.refworks.com/Refworks].

RefWorks workshops may be found at [www2.lib.udel.edu/usered/classes/current.html].

For more information, the Coordinator of Library Instruction is available at [meiman@udel.edu].
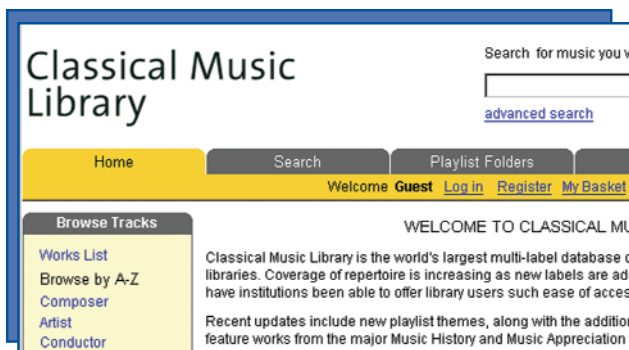

Electronic Resources

Music Databases: Classical Music Library and Naxos

The University of Delaware Library subscribes to two databases of music: Classical Music Library and Naxos Music Library.

Access to both databases is enabled by the Henry Newton Lee Jr. Family Library Music Fund. Access to the databases is available to University of Delaware students, faculty, and staff from classroom, office, and residential halls 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.
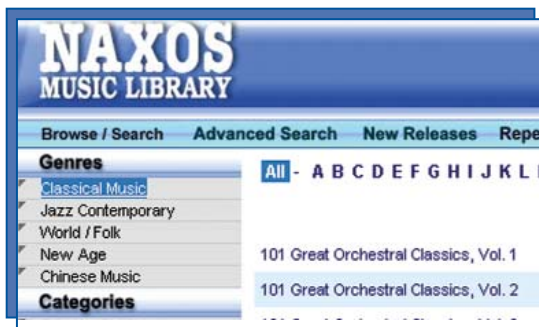

Classical Music Library, produced by Alexander Street Press, is a comprehensive, fully searchable database of distinguished classical recordings. It includes tens of thousands of licensed recordings that users can listen to on the Internet.

Classical Music Library contains music from medieval to contemporary, from choral works to symphonies, operas and the avant-garde and includes multiple versions of works to enable comparative listening by students, a major bonus for academics. Users can listen and learn at any time from any computer, while simultaneously searching and browsing the reference database.

world music, educational products, and a growing range of historical recordings featuring the biggest performers in the history of classical music. Naxos is in the process of adding catalogs of other independent labels including Celestial Harmonies, Analekta, BIS, ARC, First Edition, and CBC to the Library. Naxos expects to continue to include leading independent labels from around the world. Users browse, search, click, and then listen to the music over the Internet through headphones.

Classical Music Library can be accessed at [www2.lib.udel.edu/database/cml.html].

Naxos Music Library can be accessed at [www2.lib.udel.edu/database/nml.html]. These databases are supported by a gift from the Henry Newton Lee Jr. Family Library Music Fund.

Naxos, the world's leading producer of classical music, produces more new recordings than any other label or corporate entity. Naxos Music Library provides the complete Naxos, Marco Polo, and Da Capo catalogs as well as jazz and

Web of Science

Web of Science is one of the most important databases accessible via the University of Delaware Library. It provides references, abstracts, and links to full text for more than 8,700 international journals in the sciences, social sciences, and the arts and humanities. It is a citation database that includes the Science Citation Index Expanded (1945-present), Social Sciences Citation Index (1956-present), and Arts & Humanities Citation Index (1975-present).

Web of Science links references to both the online full text of articles in journals and to related articles, thus allowing a broad search across disciplines. The power of Web of Science as a research tool is due to its comprehensive subject coverage and its ability to link related articles through their bibliographic citations. The citation data allows a library user to begin with a known, relevant journal article and find other, more recent articles that cite it.

Web of Science is the premier database in the Library's Article Express service, which provides access online to the full text of journal articles online from a variety of publishers.

Eighteenth Century Collections Online (ECCO)

ECCO includes the digital images of every page of 150,000 books published during the 18th century, mainly in the United Kingdom but also in the Americas. With full-text searching of approximately 26 million pages, Eighteenth Century Collections Online allows researchers new methods of access to critical information in the fields of history, geography, literature, philosophy, religion, law, medicine, fine arts, science, social science, and more.

ECCO includes a variety of materials -- from books and directories, Bibles, sheet music and sermons to advertisements -- and works by many well-known and lesser-known authors, all providing a diverse collection of materials for the researcher of the eighteenth century. ECCO was acquired with the support of the Unidel Foundation.

Institutional Repository
dspace.udel.edu

The University of Delaware is one of the first universities in the nation to create an institutional repository for research and scholarship. The Institutional Repository is available at [dspace.udel.edu].

"The Institutional Repository provides one-stop shopping for access to UD research (storing, indexing, preserving, and redistributing information)," said Susan Brynteson, the May Morris Director of Libraries.

The Institutional Repository is a library system that uses DSpace open-source software to make University of Delaware original research available in digital form, including technical reports, working papers, conference papers, images and more, through one interface. The repository is limited to materials for which the copyright is owned by the author or the University.

Information about placing research in the Institutional Repository is available by calling the administration office of the Library at 302-831-2231 or by sending an e-mail to Sandra Millard at [skm@udel.edu], Gregg Silvis at [gregg@udel.edu], William Simpson at [wsimpson@udel.edu], or Susan Brynteson at [susanb@udel.edu].

SciFinder Scholar

SciFinder Scholar provides access to the literature of chemistry and its many related disciplines. The main file, which replaces Chemical Abstracts, includes references from over 9,500 currently published journals and patent information from more than 50 active patent issuing authorities. The database can be searched by author, key words, and chemical structure or substructure. It allows the combination of chemical structures and functional groups to locate reaction information.

The strengths of this database lie in its careful and comprehensive indexing and its enormous breadth. The CAplus file contains over 27 million patent and journal references on topics ranging from genomics and proteomics to physical chemistry and composite materials. The registry file contains over 31 million substances and 58 million sequences; and the chemical reactions file, more than 12 million single and multi-step reactions and the corresponding structure diagrams.

SciFinder Scholar provides a number of "how to" pages, tutorials, and helpful strategies at its Resources page, [www.cas.org/SCIFINDER/SCHOLAR/resources.html].

SciFinder Scholar 2006 is available for both PC users and Mac OS X users.

These databases, and many more, can be accessed at [www.lib.udel.edu/db].

Instructional Resources

Start Research Here: Online "Subjects A-Z" Guides

Bookmark subject guides or use them in course syllabi

Library staff have created more than 105 subject guides for nearly all disciplines in which the University offers degrees plus subject guides on other information topics. The online subject guides provide links to the University of Delaware Library databases, electronic journals, DELCAT, and Internet resources considered by a subject specialist to be the best on a subject. They are an extensive list of the best scholarly web sites on that topic and are updated regularly. From the Library home page, users may select Subjects A-Z or go directly to [www2.lib.udel.edu/subj].

Instructional Media Collection

The Library Instructional Media Collection Department provides access to more than 16,000 video programs in DVD and VHS format. New materials are added throughout the year in support of the curriculum. Located in the Morris Library, on the eastern side of the Lower Level, next to the Student Multimedia Design Center, the Instructional Media Collection Department acquires, houses, and maintains audiovisual materials within the University of Delaware Library. Thirty individual viewing carrels are located within the Department. Library patrons must present a valid University of Delaware I.D. card or Borrower's Card to use the viewing carrels.

The collection also includes 3,000 16mm academic films, many of which are rare and unique and not available on video. These academic films are housed in the off-campus Library Annex and are available upon 24 hour request. The 16mm film collection was the original core Audiovisual Collection at the University of Delaware and is important not only for the educational value of its content, but also as a human and historical record, cultural artifact, and window to the past.

Media Circulation

Instructional Media Collection films and videos, as well as CD-audio and audiocassettes are available for checkout to University of Delaware faculty, staff, and students. All borrowers must present a valid University of Delaware I.D. card when checking out films and videos. Media collection materials are checked out at the Instructional Media Collection Department service desk.

Some films and videos are restricted due to heavy instructional use and so may only be checked out by faculty, graduate students, and professional staff. Undergraduate students and other users may view these restricted items in the Instructional Media Collection Department viewing carrels in the Morris Library. DELCAT indicates if an item is restricted.

Instructions on how to set up roaming IP for laptops can be found at [www2.lib.udel.edu/eresources/connect.html].

Library Instruction for University Classes

Librarians provide assistance to faculty and instructors in designing research classes, teaching basic and advanced research techniques, finding books and articles related to student assignments, and navigating subject-specific library databases. Librarians also provide tours and general orientations for high school students and other community groups.

For more information, users may visit the web page for Library Instruction at [www2.lib.udel.edu/usered].

Streaming Video and Web Guides to Video

Audiovisual content is increasingly becoming available via the Internet. The Library subscribes to a new streaming video collection called Theatre in Video from Alexander Street Press [udel.ativ.alexanderstreet.com] which has more than 500 hours of plays.

An annotated webliography with a selection of freely available multimedia search engines and streaming video content sites can be accessed at [www2.lib.udel.edu/subj/film/resguide/streamingweb.htm].

The Instructional Media Collection Department web page provides further information on media use policies and scheduling procedures at [www.lib.udel.edu/ud/instructionalmedia].

Special Collections: Rare Books, Manuscripts, and Exhibitions

The Special Collections Department is located on the Second Floor of the Morris Library. Holdings include books, manuscripts, maps, prints, photographs, broadsides, periodicals, pamphlets, ephemera, and realia from the 15th to the 21st century.

The collections complement the Library general collections with strengths in the arts; English, Irish, and American literature; history and Delawareana; horticulture; history of science and technology; and the book arts.

These materials are available for research use by all University of Delaware faculty, staff, students, and visiting scholars. Materials do not circulate and photocopying of bound items is restricted. A laptop computer is available for use in Special Collections.

Special Collections holdings are distinguished by their subject matter, age, rarity, association with the author or earlier owners, special illustrations or binding, textual or historical significance, fragile format, or other criteria. Among the collections are manuscripts and significant editions of works by selected 20th century American authors, for example, Alice Dunbar-Nelson, Tennessee Williams, and Paul Bowles.

Exhibitions of materials from Special Collections are featured in the Special Collections Exhibition Gallery with two major exhibitions each year, and are occasionally accompanied by a published guide or catalog. The exhibitions also contribute to scholarship in a field, interpret aspects of the collections, and commemorate historic and cultural events. Adjacent to the Exhibition Gallery is The Lincoln Exhibit which features items from The Lincoln Collection.

Special Collections also coordinates exhibitions on the First Floor of the Morris Library, which highlight areas of the Library general collections. Online versions of exhibitions, as well as other online resources, including finding aids for many manuscript and archival collections, are available via the Special Collections web at [www.lib.udel.edu/ud/spec].

Recommendation for Library Purchase

Library Commons, Bleecker Street Café, and 24-hour Study

The Library Commons and Bleecker Street Café, located just inside the main entrance of the Morris Library, contain tables and chairs, Bleecker Street Café, vending machines, and both wired and wireless Internet access. The Library Commons is also accessible from the terrace on the north side of the Morris Library.

During the latter periods of the fall and spring semester through final exams, the Morris Library Commons is open 24 hours a day for around-the-clock study. During other periods, the Commons is available whenever the Morris Library is open. For Library hours, users may call 302-831-BOOK or go to [www2.lib.udel.edu/hours].

To preserve the Library collections, equipment, and facilities, Library users are asked not to bring food beyond the double-glass doors of the Morris Library. Closed or resealable drink containers with lids are permitted. With the financial assistance of Dining Services, patrolling Public Safety officers and monitors help the Library staff maintain an atmosphere conducive to studying and reading and ensure that policies about food and drink are implemented. Library users are asked to take a sensible approach in caring for the Library.
